Sacred Harmony

Tumpek Landep: The Padmasana Ceremony at Our Villa

Padmasana Ceremony

At our villa, a sacred Padmasana ceremony is held on every Tumpek Landep, one of the most meaningful days in the Balinese calendar.

Tumpek Landep falls every 210 days (once in six Balinese months) and is dedicated to honoring divine wisdom, clarity of mind, and sharpness in thinking. Traditionally, Balinese people bless their metal tools, vehicles, and instruments, as these objects are seen as extensions of human intelligence and creativity.

The name Landep means “sharp,” symbolizing not only the sharpness of weapons or tools, but more importantly the clarity and sharpness of human thoughts. Balinese families place offerings on their motorbikes, cars, and even work equipment, asking for safety, protection, and harmony in their daily lives.

Here at the villa, we continue this sacred tradition through a Padmasana ceremony. Offerings are prepared and prayers are conducted at the villa’s Padmasana shrine to express gratitude and to maintain balance between the spiritual and natural worlds. Guests may occasionally witness these rituals, which are performed with devotion and are an inseparable part of Balinese cultural and spiritual life.

Where Elegance Meets Exploration

Sacred Harmony

Wayang Wong Tejakula

Wayang Wong is a traditional Balinese performance that is still preserved in Tejakula Village. Dancers wear beautifully crafted masks and move like living puppets, portraying episodes from the Ramayana with deep spiritual meaning.

The performance is usually presented during temple ceremonies (piodalan) or local cultural festivals. Experiencing Wayang Wong in Tejakula offers a rare opportunity to witness an authentic Balinese tradition where art, spirituality, and community come together.

Baris Dance

The Baris Dance is a traditional Balinese performance symbolizing bravery and the spirit of a warrior. Its powerful and dynamic movements portray the courage, strength, and confidence of a young soldier ready to defend his land.

Where Elegance Meets Exploration

Sacred Harmony

Wayang Kulit Tejakula

Wayang Kulit, or Balinese shadow puppetry, is a sacred art form still preserved in Tejakula. Performed by a dalang (puppet master), the stories are taken from the Hindu epics Ramayana and Mahabharata, accompanied by the unique sounds of gender wayang gamelan. In Tejakula, Wayang Kulit is more than entertainment—it is a spiritual offering performed during temple ceremonies and important rituals, carrying deep moral and philosophical values.

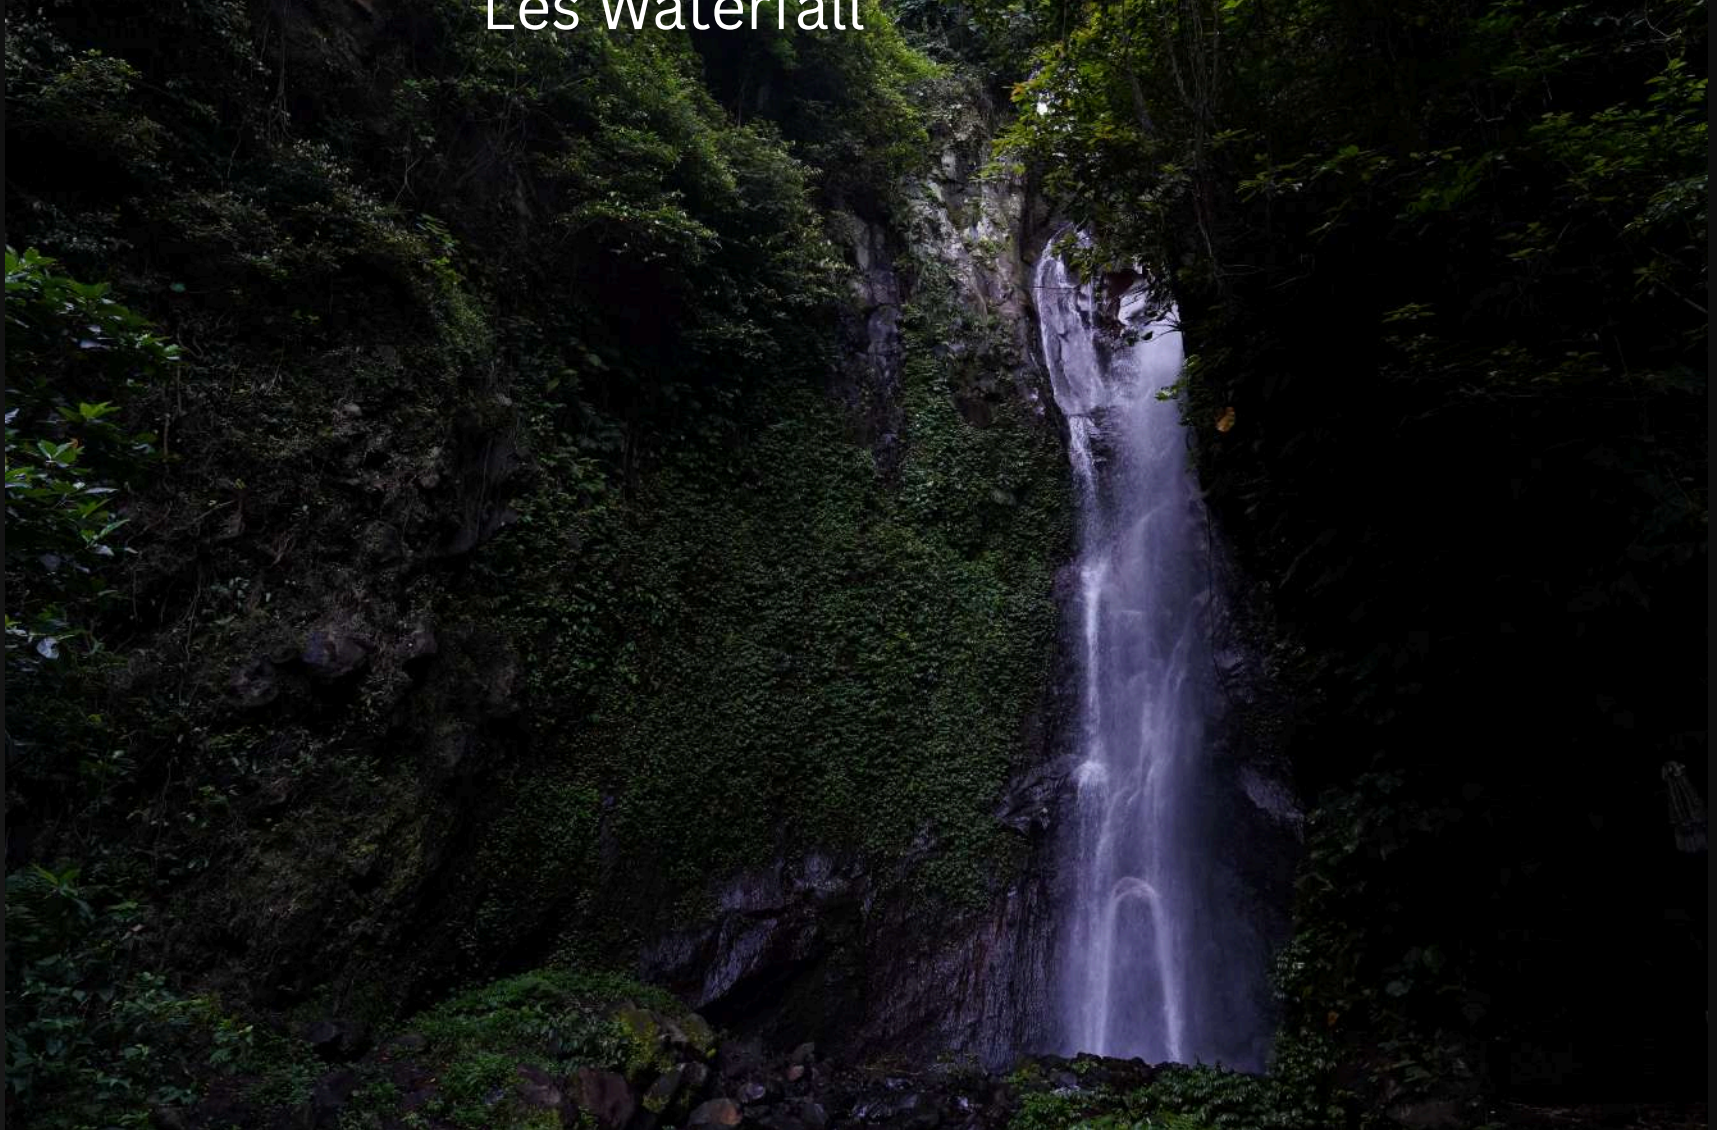

Rejang Dance

Tari Rejang is one of Bali's most sacred dances, performed by women during temple ceremonies to welcome the gods. With simple, graceful movements, the dance symbolizes devotion, purity, and harmony between humans and the divine.
